PCS Edventures posts small loss

PCS Edventures, a designer, developer and deliverer of educational products and services through online, classroom and after-school labs, Thursday announced financial results for the first time as a public company.

The company reported a basic loss per share of 4 cents, the same as the year-earlier period.

PCS Edventures is one of the few companies selected by the U.S. Department of Education as qualified for its 21st Century Community Centers grant program.
